Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm excited to apply for the Rev-celerator Graduate Programme's Product Owner (Technical) position at Revolut. Your mission of giving people more visibility, control, and freedom with their money, combined with your rapid growth and innovation-driven culture, perfectly aligns with my technical background and product mindset.

What particularly draws me to Revolut is how you combine technical excellence with user-focused innovation. Through my experience developing financial technology solutions, I've learned the importance of bridging technical capabilities with user needs. At Sky Bullion Trading, I enhanced our analytics dashboard by implementing a RAG system after identifying gaps in customer support - demonstrating the kind of user-focused problem-solving crucial for a Product Owner role.

Your emphasis on data-driven decision-making resonates strongly with my approach. In my role at King's Labs, I built a production-ready Django API for King's Capital (kingscapital.org/portfolio), implementing automated data updates and optimizing API performance based on user feedback. This experience of translating user needs into technical requirements while working with cross-functional teams has prepared me for the collaborative nature of product development at Revolut.

The prospect of joining Revolut's rocketship at this exciting stage, where I could contribute to shaping financial products that impact millions of users globally, is incredibly exciting. I'm particularly drawn to your bootcamp approach, which shows a commitment to developing well-rounded Product Owners who understand both technical and business aspects.

Thank you for considering my application.

Best regards,

Saif Nasir
